WE NOMINATE

William Wirt Lockwood, one of the 14 eminent American scholars and specialists in Asian affairs, who have taken a long, hard look at American policy in Southeast Asia and have come forward with a major report which is bound to generate debate and fresh controversy wherever Vietnam is discussed. The 61-year-old Lockwood and his associates have concluded, following the first conference sponsored by the new Freedom House Public Affairs Institute, Tuxedo, N. Y., that the acceptance by the United States of a Communist victory in Vietnam would be likely to lead to large, more costly wars rather than a lasting peace.

Against the background of the national debate over Vietnam and Asia, the object of the newly published report, one observer points out, is to establish a middle ground for American opinion between the increasingly rigid positions of the New Left and the Old Right. In their short introduction, the authors say "that the moderate segment of the academic community must now be heard, lest other voices be mistaken for majority sentiment." Their statement, seeking "to present a rational, moderate position as forcefully as possible," is currently being distributed to some 3,600 scholars for the purpose of stimulating broader discussion of the crucial tests confronting the country.

A native of Shanghai, where he was born while his father was serving as General Secretary of the American YMCA, Lockwood for over three decades has sought to strengthen the West's understanding of the East Asian perimeter "from Korea around to India." Long before most Americans started to think beyond Honolulu and Wake Island, he was helping initiate the research undertakings of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which was to render invaluable service to American Armed Forces during World War II.

During the World War II period, up until he returned to academic life here in the Woodrow Wilson School, Lockwood, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of De Pauw University and a Bowdoin College teacher for six years in the 1930's, filled a variety of governmental posts. He was first asked to serve as economic consultant to the Office of Export Control and later directed the preparation of a series of China Relief Studies for the Department of State. In 1943 he moved on to the Office of Strategic Services, holding forth as an assistant chief of the Far Eastern Division in its Research and Analysis Branch, but actually readying himself for two years of military duty as an Army captain and major with the O.S.S. unit attached to General Chennault's 14th Air Force in China.

Particularly concerned with the political and economic development of modern East Asia, a prolific writer on such topics as "Politics and Social Change in Modern Asia," and a past president of the Association for Asian Studies, Lockwood has repeatedly returned to the Far East, most recently in 1965-66 as a McCosh Faculty Fellow, one of the highest honors Princeton can confer upon a teacher-scholar. Among his publications, Lockwood, a member of the Department of State's East Asia Advisory Panel and a former Chairman of the Editorial Board of Princeton University Press, can point with understandable pride to his "The Economic Development of Japan," described by several economists as a "monumental work" documenting a success story that is the envy of the world.

For basing his views on both intensive study and practical experience; for his part in the preparation of a report worthy of the most serious consideration by the academic world, by political leaders and by all American citizens; for his lifelong devotion to "the mutual communication of knowledge" between East and West; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

TELL ME ABOUT . . .

1967 and All That. Since the 1960 census, the population of the Township has grown 26.8 percent. Even the tight-squeezed Borough has grown 8.2 percent and that's the 1967 story of the community of Princeton — growth and more growth.

(Not only that there were 2,600 more listings in the phone book in 1967 than there were in 1966.)

"We think the most desirable and efficient way to grow is by improving what we have, rather than expanding it," said the controversial Borough Master Plan, released in the 1967 spring. But how to improve and how to keep from expanding —?

One of the happiest symbols of confunity growth (and of easier inter-racial relationships) was the new swimming pool. One year ago on January 19, a TOWN TOPICS story began, "Nothing stands in the way of the opening of the Community Park swimming pool complex on Memorial Day."

And nothing did. On Memorial Day (one of the last few hot days before the onset of a cold, wet summer), Princeton's pools were opened, and crowds of happy Princetonians splashed all summer to make the new pool an even greater success than anyone had expected.

Build We Must. The Borough finished and moved into the new Borough Hall, the town's first real "home" in 154 years of municipal life. Princeton Hospital added a tremendous new wing after a series of skirmishes with neighbors over the very question of growth — should the hospital serve a burgeoning region as well as a burgeoning community?

(And for how many more years must an institution waste time with appearances before the governing bodies of two Princetons, when in reality there is only one Princeton community?)

Growth across municipal lines brought conflict with Lawrence Township over construction of a mammoth "campus" for Squibb, and Princeton Township was so indignant it took its case to court, along with some Lawrence residents, and that's where it is at this writing.

Growth brought problems like "what to do about sewers?" and the two Princetons decided in alarm that $75 million was too much for a giant regional system, and seceded instead on a sub-regional solution.

Park . . . Somewhere. Traffic . . . That's where the growth pinched. Traffic and parking in center city became tighter as the year progressed.

and the most welcome news of the year's end was legislation signing a by-pass into reality sometime.

(This was the year Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg said the by-pass by wouldn't be built for another ten years. Maybe it won't; the money still isn't in the kitty, but money is all we need.)

Imaginative Princeton residents formed the Regional Development Council, Inc., and announced in late spring that they would work toward building the southwest segment of the Loop Road that will eventually ring Princeton and relieve some traffic. A portion of that Loop edged a bit farther on as the Township extended Terhune to meet State Road.

Increased traffic brought more accidents—and more potential trouble spots. Will there be a traffic light at Elm and Cleveland or at Harrison and Valley by 1968? A 200-signature petition plus requests from municipal and county officials didn't move the state a single blink nearer that Elm-Cleveland light.

"There's more blood on that bridge than on any spot in central New Jersey," said one man at the hearing last spring on building a new Kingston bridge. That's a project that may indeed be completed by 1968.

Parking garages on several levels were a possibility raised by the Borough's Master Plan. A mini-bus scooting around town so that people wouldn't have to drive onto Nassau Street, was a proposal made during the election campaign by Montague Brown, who ran unsuccessfully for Township Committee.

Mail Here. And then, the post office. "Princeton is such a problem child!" exclaimed a Federal official, as the Township Zoning Board heard evening after evening of testimony about Princeton's postal squeeze.

The Thanet Corporation, which wanted to build a large main post office on five acres of North Harrison land, was turned down by the Township Zoning Board. Thanet has gone to court asking for a reversal, and while deliberation may say they won't take further action on a Princeton post office until the court acts first.

People? That 26.8 percent rise in the Township brought a question: "How many and what kinds of people do we want?" as the Citizens Advisory Committee on housing made a study of housing need in the Township. It's need really just a 'desire' to live in this pleasant community," asked one Princetonian at a public hearing.)

The citizens' committee found housing "scant" and discovered that 75 percent of Princeton's male school teachers have to live outside the community.

Meanwhile, 50 elderly residents who have lived their lives here, moved in October into the new Lloyd Terrace project on Harrison Street. The state's new housing law brought into being Princeton Community Housing, Inc., a cluster of Princeton churches and community organizations devoted to exploring the possibility of middle-income housing for the whole community under the new state law.

And then, just as Princeton saw horizons unlimited for growth, Federal authorities closed in on "Open Space" and informed Township and Borough that probably no more Federal money would be available. The reason: problems in congested urban areas are a much more acute.

The growth of Princeton over the years was symbolized in 1967 by the opening of "Bainbridge House" as the headquarters of the Historical Society of Princeton. This 18th-century building, formerly the home of the public library, is the house in which Commodore William Bainbridge, commander of the U.S.S. Constitution, was born.

In January, on the 190th anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the acting president of the society, Bruce French, presented a symbolic silver dollar of rent money to Princeton University, owner of Bainbridge House.

Youth! A lot of people over 21 thought teenagers would never get out of the news in '67. The year began with formation of an organization called Pseukay (Greek: "soul") with a vital membership of Negro young people.

At the first of the year the town's teens thought they wanted the old Miss Fine's gym. That proved too expensive, so they decided to accept the Borough's offer and become custodial tenants of the community building on Witherspoon Street formerly occupied by the Borough Engineer.

A youth director, Robert D Engebretson, came to town to spend full time at that Witherspoon teen center, and the new year opens with the center in its first exploratory semester as the "place to go" that Princeton's teens have always talked about.

The Borough signed on Ralph Procaccino as its first full-time juvenile officer, pronounced him a success, then lost him late in the year when he was promoted to sergeant.

Why do teenagers take drugs? The question was urgent in Princeton in 1967. Four teen boys were expelled from The Hun School for using marijuana; five University undergraduates and two town boys were arrested on drug charges. Hashish, marijuana and certain psychedelic drugs were found in their possession. Police, parents and school officials saw drugs as a continuing source of concern.

Back to School. Young people filled Princeton's thoughts in other ways, too. Sometimes it seemed, during 1967, that getting children to school was almost more difficult than teaching them after they got there.

The Princeton Regional School District, in its first real year of Borough-Township merger, found itself faced with an unforeseen side problem: transportation of non-public school children.

A new state law required public schools to bus private and parochial school children who attended schools within a 20-mile radius of the community. This meant about 500 more youngsters to transport, for an un-budgeted, unexpected cost of at least $50,000.

As 1967 began, problems facing the new school district were salary increases for teachers, the re-assignment of children within the new Regional district, the disposition of Rocky Hill's 138 youngsters, and the formation of a new "Middle School."

Teachers were firmly and publicly unhappy over a compromise salary increase and

CRASH KILLS NURSE

On Carter Road. A 37-year-old Hopewell woman killed Monday night, was one of 22 highway deaths reported in New Jersey during the Christmas weekend. It was the worst such weekend in the state's history, topping the previous record for Christmas highway fatalities of 18 set in 1962.

Mrs. Rita McManus, 58 Columbia Avenue, died in Princeton Hospital Monday night about two and one-half hours after her car went out of control on Carter Road at 9:15 and rammed a tree head on. Trooper Thomas Mullane of the Hopewell Barracks said that the mishap took place 200 yards south of the Pennington-Rocky Hill Road intersection.

Princeton Hospital reported that Mrs. McManus died from severe head injuries.

Mrs. McManus was a registered nurse at Princeton Hospital. Born in Trenton, she was a lifelong resident of the Hopewell area.

She is survived by two sons, Michael and Stephen; a daughter, Eileen; her father, two brothers and three sisters. The funeral will be held Friday at 9 a.m. at the Cromwell Memorial Home, Hopewell, followed by a requiem mass at St. Alphonsus Church.

Boy, 11, Killed. Melvin Salter, 11, was killed last week when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on Route 27, about a half mile from his home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Salter, Route 27, Little Rocky Hill.

Edmond Carroll, 51, of 54 Murray Place, later told police he tried to swerve clear of the youth. In doing so, he crossed into the path of an oncoming car and the impact forced his car to strike the youth.

Young Salter was taken to Princeton Hospital by the Kendall Park First Aid Unit. He was dead on arrival at 5:45 Thursday.

Mr. Carroll was treated for a back sprain and bruises. The driver of the second car, Mrs. John Hite, 34, 601 Prospect Avenue, was admitted to the Princeton Hospital the following morning for head injuries and a broken nose. Her four-year-old daughter, Ruth, was cut on her lip.

8 ACCIDENTS TUESDAY

Within 90 Minutes. An early morning chill on Tuesday that turned wet Township roads into icy slicks played havoc with motorists.

Starting at 6:57, harried Township police investigated seven accidents in an hour and a half. In other which occurred at 7:53 a few hundred yards below the Mercer Road Bridge, the cars involved had left the scene by the time police were able to respond.

"It was like glass down on lower Alexander Street," said one Township patrolman. Another said, "At 6:30 the roads were all wet; by 7 they were all covered with a thin coat of ice." In four of the eight mishaps, there were minor injuries.

At 6:57, the entire front end of a sports convertible driven by Gene P. Nuse, 21, of Warrington, Pa., was damaged when it skidded into the King voiced to accept it with reluctance. They received more in a revised scale presented in March.

Rocky Hill and Princeton came to an agreement to phase out Rocky Hill's children, but Princeton's small neighbor was not happy over the decision. Parents in Princeton were not always happy about the reassignment of the children in a genuinely merged system, and much of their distress came from worry about long walks over hazardous routes.

The ship changed hands as Superintendent John McKenna resigned to become superintendent of the Madison, N. J. schools, and 39 year-old Philip E. McPherson came in July to replace him.

A new concept came into being — a Middle School housed in Valley Road and Community Park, and composed of grades six, seven and eight. More than a thousand of Princeton's 5,000 school children attend the new Middle School.

The state evaluated Princeton High School's building and found, to nobody's particular surprise, that it isn't big enough. The school board asked the Township to nail down a 60 acre plot on Cherry Hill as a "proposed school site."

In Princeton's private schools, Stuart Country Day lost Mother John Kirby as headmistress and gained Mother Mary Bush. At Princeton Day School, the last all girl class was graduated, a vestigial remain from the union of Miss Fine's and Princeton Country Day into the coed Princeton Day School.

Hands Up! Criminally speaking, it was a fascinating year in Princeton — if you weren't a victim.

People and stores lost to thievery: 80 pounds of beef stew, six wigs, a $269 sewing machine, Scotch, bourbon and rye in quantity, a cigar skin valued at $2,000, $391 worth of meat, hubcaps without number, a collection of office machines valued at $1,175, 21 paychecks, a $300 pump and an arsenal of guns.

Also, $2,600 from the A & P, $10,000 in furs and jewels from a single household, $3,160 in jewelry from another, $15,816 from the Princeton Inn and a bout $5,500 from Princeton Savings and Loan.

It was the year a man escaped from the Borough jail, managed to steal $183 during 48 minutes of freedom and was caught again.

The Township police held a two session course for home owners and — protection of the home against crime.

Crime and police protection are part of the game in any municipality. So is that greatest American game, politics.

Princeton Borough saw its liveliest election in some years as Democrat Archibald S. Alexander Jr., challenged Republican incumbent Henry S. Patterson in the mayoralty contest. The staunchly Republican community returned Mayor Patterson to his fourth term by only 50 votes and almost seated Democratic Council candidate James Andrews, he lost by three votes.

Princeton's Democrats split into so-called "liberal" and "conservative" camps, as the "liberals" in both Borough and Township broke away early in the year to form the Princeton Community Democratic Organization.

But governing the town went on as political ambitions came and went. Revelation of substandard living conditions in a Birch Avenue apartment brought demands for more stringent application of the Township's housing code.

Ironically, the quickest response came in the Borough, where Council passed an ordinance requiring a certificate of occupancy of rental units.

Sycamores on Moore contracted anthracnose and elms on Nassau went down before Dutch elm disease.

The town rallied on June 5 as the power flipped. Secretaries warmed coffee over a candle flame and motorists tried to get through intersections where traffic lights were dead. "Human error" was the cause of the wide-spread power failure, said the Federal Power Commission.

A fire in the bowling alley on Route One gutted the half million dollar structure. It came ten months after the blazing Contreau fire in Penn

News Of The THEATRES

WHO LOST A BIKINI?

At The Movies? When the show is over and the lights go on and the audience pours out of the theatre, you can be sure someone has left something behind.

The Princeton Playhouse is currently holding in its lost-and-found box the top of a lady's bikini, a man's sterling silver wedding ring, a batch of wallets, some rubber boots, a checkbook on the First National Bank, a friendship ring, various scarves, mittens, knitted hats, keys, glasses and glasses cases, and two men's belts.

"It's part of a day's work," philosophizes the manager, Richard A. Knight, who has returned the same pocketbook to the same woman three times. ("I'd know that purse anywhere. . . .")

The morning cleaners at the Playhouse and Garden have found car keys, wallets, coats, umbrellas, sunglasses, toothbrushes, deodorants, buttons, household and car keys, pins, students' notebooks, ladies' panties, and money.

$800 In Cash. "A woman's purse containing $800 and airline tickets was found one morning by the cleaners," according to Fred Rhodes, the Garden manager. Owners are always called on the phone whenever the lost item contains identification.

The cleaners have found one shoe, a contact lens, a new bottle of Lavoris and a fresh tube of toothpaste, a woman's coat with the size tags still on it and small bags of merchandise or groceries.

The cardboard box at the Playhouse is filled to the point where the manager is about to follow his usual pattern: "I finally give the stuff away to a rummage sale somewhere."

The Garden's accumulated items go to St. Paul's Church after being held about three months.

Forgetfulness is contagious, as Fred Rhodes can verify. He'd no sooner left the Playhouse on Thursday to go to the Garden Theatre when his wife Nancy walked in. "Here's Fred's wallet. He forgot it!"

"VENUS" ON MONDAY

Triangle Back. "Enter, Venus," Triangle's 1967 offering, will be seen in McCarter on New Year's night in a special return performance.

Curtain time on Monday is 8:30 and tickets are now on sale at all prices in the McCarter box-office. The 50 members of the Triangle troupe are now on tour in the east and mid-west.

"SHYLOCK" NEXT

In Repertory. Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice," next in McCarter's repertory, will open at the theatre on Friday, January 5, at 8:30.

David Byrd will portray Shylock and Anne Gee Byrd will be Portia. Susan Babel has been assigned the role of Jessica and Pamela Hawthorn will be Nerissa. Mr. Byrd played Shylock in 1961 when McCarter last produced Shakespeare's famous play.

In other roles, audiences will see Ronald Steelman, Yusef Bulos and Jake Dengel as Portia's suitors; K. Lype O'Dell and Timothy Jerome as Antonio and Bassanio; Phillip Pleo as Launcelot Gobbo and Will Hicks as Old Gobbo.

NO "GOAT"

Hogan Cancels Out. Exiting and entering like an actor caught in a revolving door, "Hogan's Goat" has finally exited — for the last time. William Alfred's off-Broadway hit will not—repeat "not"

'CHELSEA GIRLS' DUE

In New Cinema Series. Andy Warhol's controversial film, "The Chelsea Girls" will inaugurate a four-part series called "The New Cinema" which will be shown at McCarter this winter.

"The Chelsea Girls" will be shown on Monday, January 22, in its three hour-plus entirety, projected simultaneously on two screens.

The three subsequent programs will consist of two evenings of experimental and independent cinema by such directors as Truffaut, Godard and Lester, and the final program will feature Peter Watkins' "The War Game," winner of the 1966 Academy Award as the best documentary.

All seats will be reserved, and only series subscriptions for all four films are available.

PLAYHOUSE

Wait Until Dark (now playing). Every ounce of suspense and excitement that Frederick Knott packed into his Broadway mystery play has been put into the film version — and then some. This is a thriller on the grand scale, handsomely produced in color and acted by a first rate cast, headed by Audrey Hepburn.

Not as complicated as Knott's "Dial M for Murder," the film tends to strain credulity even more. By the time the hair-raising climax rolls around, however, logic no longer matters.

The plot concerns a blind young woman (Audrey Hepburn) whose photographer-husband has inadvertently obtained a child's doll used for smuggling dope into the U.S. from Canada. The three criminals involved are the photographer from his Greenwich Village apartment and then concoct an elaborate plot to convince his wife that she must give up the doll in order to save her spouse from being charged with the murder of the woman who gave it to him. Although blind, she is shrewd, and the way she matches wits against them is the rest of the story.

Alan Arkin is the master criminal involved, with Richard Crenna and Jack Weston as his side-kicks. Ephram Zimbalist Jr. has the short and thankless part as Miss Hepburn's spouse. Julie Herrod from the Broadway cast is quite good as the obnoxious brat upstairs. Henry Mancini has provided a musical score that is solidly dramatic and a far cry from the melodies with which he is usually associated.

Valley of the Dolls (now playing) a fairly faithful version of the Jacqueline Susan novel. It focuses on four high powered women in show business; beautiful, tormented, fighting women who turn to pills or the stimulous of liquer for escape.

The film is brutally explicit on the promiscuous use of drugs — "peps," sleeping and diet pills — and their effect on the glamour girls of the Broadway - Hollywood circuit, haunting them from glittering opening nights to Skid Row flop houses. It is a disturbing look at people with appetites for life greater than their capacity for living.

Cast in the lead roles are Barbara Perkins as Anne; Sharon Tate as Jennifer; Patty Duke as Neely, and Susan Hayward as Helen.

GARDEN

The Ambushers (held over) Another Matt Helm spy spoof with Dean Martin in the lead role, surrounded by willing, gorgeous girls. (Reviewed last week.)

THE AMBUSHERS: After taking some highly secret film, Dean Martin as super agent Matt Helm and Janice Rule discover their hiding place has other advantages in this scene from the adventure film held over at the Garden Theatre.

JOHNSON: HE'S BAD NEWS: Roger Breese thinks just about any candidate that comes along will be able to defeat President Johnson next year. "Johnson," he says, "is bad news." (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: As of now, who do you feel has the best chance of defeating President Johnson next year?

Where asked: Princeton Shopping Center.

Roger Breese, Griggstown Road, Belle Mead, shoemaker, win Center Shoe Repair: Just about anybody. I think Johnson will even have a hard time finding a running mate. He's bad news. Johnson made a lot of promises. He was going to give everybody everything. The average person knows you can't get something for nothing. Somebody's got to pay. I'd say Reagan is ahead of the Republican pack right now.

Harry W. Hazard, 100 Sycamore Road, historian: Rockefeller. I think he has the best record of achievement and has made the fewest enemies both personally and politically. Fewer distrust or dislike him than any of the other candidates.

John Walsh, Hillsborough, CPA for Merck: I think Ronald Reagan, because in American politics it is more important to be an attractive candidate, to be presentable on television to get the female vote. Regan represents a relatively new face, new ideas—ones that are rather well contrasted with Johnson's. This is not intended as any preference for Reagan; it's just that I think this is what may happen.

Mrs. Edmund Pinelli, 286 Mount Lucas Road, housewife: I'll say Rockefeller. I think he has all the qualifications for the job.

Sterling Brahson, Monmouth Junction, office manager: I suppose McCarthy. A man from his own party. His coming out on the Vietnam situation. Not that I go along with him but I think he's got a lot of following. I think Vietnam will determine who the next president will be.

Mrs. C. B. Geckeler, Canal Road, Griggstown, housewife: Rockefeller. I have always liked Rockefeller. I think he has the broadest experience with foreign policy which is important in these times. He knows other countries. He's been there. Nixon, on the other hand, has just a politician's opinion of foreign countries and of our policy toward them. He's just too, too narrow-minded.

John Vanrek, Griggstown, sheetmetal worker: Mr. Rockefeller. I think he's the best qualified man for the job in the Republican Party. He's well equipped, he knows the situation. He's been governor of New York twice. That's quite a job in itself—running New York. I think he would do an excellent job. Mr. Reagan is a great man, too, but I don't think he's ready for a jump like this. In my opinion, I don't think he will ever be ready. I just think Rockefeller is the best qualified man they have. It's going to take a good man to defeat Johnson.

Morris Yaguda, 40 Clearview Avenue, engineer: I'll inject some wishful thinking here and say Rockefeller. The only way the Republicans can win is to appeal somehow to a broader cross-section of the people. I think Rockefeller appeals to more people. None of the other leading Republican candidates has as broad support.

Robert Jackson, 100 Stockton Street, Princeton Seminary senior: Personally, I don't think anybody's got a great chance. I read the other day where a Republican candidate has not defeated an incumbent president for the past 80 years. I don't think any of the Republicans are offering a clear alternative to the policies of the present administration. Seems to me most of the candidates are just trying to detract from his positions without adding anything. Nixon has the best chance of coming on top, I guess, but he's a loser. They don't have anyone else. I don't think Romney with his cries of brainwashing is helping the Republicans at all.

Luis Intartaglia, 68 Clearview Avenue, PHS student: From what I hear, Rockefeller would do the best job of running against Johnson. I heard Martin Luther King says most of the Negroes would vote for Rockefeller and that he would get the labor vote, too. He'd have a lot of votes just from New York State alone. Nixon is still around but he lost before and I think he would lose again.

Ralph Davis, Princeton, laborer: I don't see any candidate that can beat him. If Johnson runs again, I think he'll win, regardless of all the criticism you hear. I feel Johnson has done the best job he can. Actually, no one has any real gripe against Johnson except the war in Vietnam and you can't knock a man for trying to do the best he can. I don't understand Vietnam. I don't think anyone does. As far as the rest of the country's policies are concerned, Johnson has been a good president.

This Is Princeton

[illegible] called seven compan[illegible] to the rescue.

Fuel pumps at Mary Watts store were set afire when hit by truck that went astray. The fire was put out by quick thinking from employees of Nassau Oil across the road.

The year brought its quota of fatal accidents, including the one that brought death to two young men who died instantly when their motorcycle missed the sharp Stony Bridge turn on Mercer Road.

In Memoriam. Death came in more peaceful ways to other members of the community in 1967. Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, internationally renowned physicist, died on February 18. It was written of him when he received an honorary degree from Princeton that Dr. Oppenheimer "combined austerity of mind with great sensitivity of spirit and personal magnetism." He has been Director of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Dr. Malvern Reeve of Rocky Hill, died in January at 101, a veteran of country-doctor days in rural New Jersey . . . Gerard B. Lambert, 80, died on February 28 and John C. Cooper, 79, "father of space law" on July 22. Professor Cooper was founder of the Institute of International Air Law at McGill.

Dr. Walter T. Stace, philosophy professor, age 80; Dwight Edwards, Far East expert, age 84; Mrs. Reah P. Williamson, co-founder of Westminster Choir College, age 78.

The Full Life. Other people in Princeton's news were Howard Waxwood Jr., who retired from the school system after 31 years devoted to teaching. He had been principal of Quarry Street School and was on the Regional District's administrative staff at the time of his retirement.

Dean J. Douglas Brown, Dean of the Princeton University faculty and Provost, retired in June. Leroy Page retired after 26 years as a mailman in the Princeton post office.

Svetlana Alliluyeva came indirectly into Princeton's purview as two Princeton residents, General Edward Greenbaum and George F. Kennan, arranged for her to come to the United States and publish her letters about her father, Joseph Stalin. She will live in Princeton for the coming year.

Churches Unite. In Princeton's religious community, the 450th anniversary of the Reformation was marked with a history-making Catholic-Protestant service in the University Chapel attended by about 2,000.

Christian unity was the theme also of a series of "livingroom dialogues" held across town in small study groups.

The Rev. Robert R. Spears Jr. left his pulpit at Trinity to become Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Dioceses of Western Missouri, and the Rev. James R. Whittemore took his place.

Father Robert P. Murray, long associated with the Aquinas Foundation, left to assume the pastorate of the Church of the Assumption in Hackettstown. At the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Ralph C. Chandler, associate pastor, resigned to join the organization of the United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Arthur M. Adams was named Dean of Princeton Theological Seminary and the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton became new president of the Princeton Pastor's Association.

Music On Stage. Two memorable performances by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra marked 1967 for Princeton's music lovers. One was a chamber performance of "Orfeo" ("a milestone of professional achievement," said TOWN TOPICS' reviewer); the other, a concert of chamber music this fall both under Nicholas Harsanyi.

McCarter Theatre announced a step forward: a continuous fall-spring repertory series of plays to bring continuity and strength to the repertory idea. Symposiums on the theatre were inaugurated with great success, and the theatre building itself underwent a radical remodeling operation bringing new light and space to dark downstairs corners.

In the arts, it seemed to be "folk year," as exhibits of Eskimo art and Haitian art, American folk and Oriental art went on display.

One of the happiest happenings in art was the loving construction of a giant tapestry by the girls at Stuart Country Day, made to hang in their great hall.

Movies? Well, McCarter had another experimental series, and there was "Boiled Egg" and "Wholly Communion." Remember what was playing in town last New Year's Eve? It was "Murderer's Row," with Dean Martin as Matt Helm — and Dean Martin at Matt Helm brought the year to a close with "The Ambushers."

Remember the weather? The April 28 snow was the latest on record here. The snow on February 7 postponed the school elections. The three-inch rain that fell between March 4 and 7 was — wet.

Between August 1 and 27, there were 6.7 inches of rain. All of them fell on people with children who had gone to the shore on vacation. In fact, there were only four clear summer weekends out of 18.

Three Ivy Titles Won. The year in sports at Princeton University was marked by continued success of the basketball team, which soared to a 25-3 mark for the best record in the history of the sport here. The Tigers won the Ivy championship, a feat which was duplicated by the wrestling team to climax a remarkable resurgence in that field of athletic endeavor, and in the spring by the lacrosse team.

Individual championships were won by Ross Wales, who took the Eastern Intercollegiate title in the 100-yard butterfly, and by Jack Endrikat, who won the half mile in the Heptagonal Games. In December, the hockey team won the ECAC Holiday Tournament in Boston.

Professional ranks raided the Princeton coaching staff in unprecedented fashion. Willem "Butch" van Breda Kolff, highly successful here as a basketball coach, left in May to direct the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA, followed during the summer by hockey coach John Wilson, now with the Springfield Indians in the American Hockey League.

Football was the success story at the scholastic level. Princeton High won the Mercer County championship, compiling a 7-2 record for Coach Dick Wood. At Hun, Coach Hawley Waterman's 11 was unbeaten (there were two ties in eight games).

The track star was Dan Tindall, who broke the PHS record in the javelin and won the state championship in the interscholastic meet in New Brunswick. Coaching changes involved Tom Murray's taking over for Gerald Groninger in track and Tony Borzok giving way to Larry Ivan in basketball.

The World Outside. Princeton was occupied anxiously with outside concerns: two Princeton men have already died in Viet Nam; the Newark riots came breath-takingly close to home.

Some 2,000 Princeton signatures went on "Negotiation Now" petitions to Washington. Busloads of Princetonians went to New York in April for demonstrations against the war; other Princetonians went in May to march in a "Support Our Boys" parade.

On January 26, 1967, in a TOWN TOPICS' "Question of the Week," one respondent said, "Prospects for a negotiated settlement are near now. . ."

One year later, as peace seems no closer, the wish for a Happy New Year is tempered with the sobering thoughts of what 1968 may bring.

*We're Glad You Asked

It's a pleasure to tell you
"what a pharmacy's for"
First: Pharmacy's a profession, and not just a store.
Second: The pharmacist spent many years to prepare.
And each day he's still learning; he has no time to spare.
He must know all the new drugs, and how they react.
A physician may call and want all the facts.
He must keep careful records of prescriptions he fills.
(He must in spare moments write checks to pay bills.)
Narcotics are given by law to his care;
And the responsibility is one he can't share.
Third: He must maintain a stock of drugs new and old.
It's important you get what you need, he's been told.
Tho it may be a year before someone again
Will call for that drug — it's got to be in.
Fourth: He must know all the answers about wheel chairs and canes;
He must have all equipment designed to stop pain.
He must know what is right in the way of a crutch;
He must know all about commodes, walkers and such.
Fifth: When the pharmacy closes, his day is not through.
There are still many details he must attend to
And then
Sixth: Just when he's home and relaxed for the night
A patient will call, He'll turn on the light
He'll note what is needed and graciously say
"I'll be glad to take care of that right away."
And so we say —
It's not just for children that pharmacy's there
Tho they are important, but all pharmacists care
About the whole town.
They're glad they can be A part of the health team to serve you and me.

tion bridge. Mr. Nuse, and two passengers, William Kost, 21, of Scranton, Pa., and Edward S. Mazur, 22, Buck Hill Falls, Pa., were all slightly injured.

At 7:43, Louis Grisolia, 58, of Bristol, Pa., received a back injury when his station wagon skidded into a tree Police said that Mr. Grisolia had crossed the Mercer bridge heading toward Lawrenceville when the mishap occurred. The entire right side of his car was damaged.

At 7:46, Harold Hastings, 21, of Patchogue, N. Y., skidded into a pole on Alexander Street, after rounding a curve. Unjured, he was able to drive his car away.

Injures Head. Four minutes later, Benjamin F. Britt, 43, 21 Battle Road, and Joseph Harowski, 19, of Trenton, collided on Alexander near the canal bridge. Mr. Britt was taken to Princeton Hospital for treatment of a contusion of the head.

Police said that Mr. Britt first hit a tree on the right hand side of the road. His car then skidded back onto the highway and into the path of the Harrowski car.

At 8:18, Ptl. Frank Boccanfuso investigated a minor skidding accident just west of the Mercer Road bridge, involving John A. Morreale, 42, 817 Lake Drive and Ronnie P. Turner, 19, of Trenton. Ptl. Boccanfuso said that damage was "very light" and that both cars were driven away by their owners.

At 8:29, Dr. David Rose of 112 Galbreath Drive W. skidded into a tree on Roesdale Road near the entrance to Johnson Park School.

He was taken to Princeton Hospital by a passing motorist where he was treated and released. The front of his sports car was extensively damaged.

At 8:30, George Graffy, 45, Levittown, Pa., skidded into a stone wall near the intersection of Route 206 and Quaker bridge Road. He was not injured.

By then the sun had melted the ice coating. Township police could breath easier and turn their attention to writing up their accident reports.

Three-Car Accident. Three cars were involved in an accident on Route 206 Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Ewing Street.

Miss Linda L. Bijaczyk, 20, of Manville, had stopped on 206, waiting to turn left onto Ewing. Her car was rammed from behind by one driven by Lynn Crawford, 65, of 103 Battle Road, forcing it into a third car coming the opposite direction on 206.

Miss Bijaczyk was admitted to Princeton Hospital for treatment of a broken jaw. She was later released.

Mr. Crawford escaped injury, but the driver of the third car, Ellwood Kauffman, 39, 62 Erdmann Avenue, whose car had to be towed away, was treated for a shoulder contusion and cut knee at Princeton Hospital.

Mr. Crawford was charged by the investigating officer, Ptl. Howard Sweeney, with careless driving.

Six Injured. A 72-year-old Township woman and five Trenton residents were injured last week in an accident between a panel truck and a car at the intersection of Valley Road and Witherspoon Street.

Mrs. Emily Browne, 77, Province Line Road, was treated for contusions at Princeton Hospital. She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Brooks Barnes, 82, of Province Line Road.

The truck driver was Turner L. Mitchell, 30, of Trenton. He and four passengers, George Molder, 29; Rosie Lee Ford, 33, Mary Lloyd, 24; and Beatrice Miller, 35, were all treated at Princeton Hospital for an assortment of contusions and abrasions.

Mrs. Barnes was driving on Valley Road, Mr. Mitchell on Witherspoon. The accident is still being investigated by Pfl. Anthony Pinelli.

AWOL SOLDIER KILLED

By Train near Junction. A young Army private fleeing military justice in Germany was killed shortly after midnight Saturday by a Pennsylvania Railroad train about a mile and a half south of Princeton Junction.

He was identified as Pvt. Johnnie W. Roark, about 21, of Jefferson City, Mo. State Police at the Princeton barracks said the death occurred while he was either attempting to board or alight from a train. The body was covered with snow when found about 8 a.m. Saturday, indicating that the accident took place during or just before the snowfall that marked the early morning hours.

Pvt. Roark was listed by military authorities at Fort Dix as being absent without leave from his unit in Germany. He was under military escort to return there, but escaped from a Pan American airliner at Kennedy airport Friday night.

Pvt. Roark jumped 12 feet from the galley door of the London-bound plane just prior to its takeoff. He had disguised his identity by putting on civilian clothes over his Army uniform in a washroom in the plane before jumping off it.

SCHOOL BUDGET NEXT

For Introduction. The Princeton Regional School budget will be introduced next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in a special public meeting at the high school. The introduction is a legal formality and the meeting will be brief. Public hearing on the budget will not be held until January 23.

Princeton's teachers have voted to accept a nine percent salary raise spread over a two year period — next year, five percent and the following year, either four percent or as much as the cost of living rise as shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics' index.

Regional Teachers Association voted "yes" on the school board's salary offer.

Under the new salary scale, teachers with a bachelor's degree starting their first year of teaching will receive $6,300 instead of the current $6,000. After 13 years they will receive $10,500 instead of the current $10,000.

The master's degree scale will start at $6,800 instead of $6,300 and the top master's salary will be $11,500 instead of $11,000.

The top salary in the system will go to teachers with doctorates and 13 years of experience. The will earn $13,000, instead of the present $12,600.

TRENTON YOUTH CHARGED With Drunken Driving. An 18-year-old Trenton youth has been charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident by Borough police.

They report that Ernest L. Johnson hit a car parked in front of the Princeton Luncheonette, 84 Nassau Street, on Christmas Day and continued on without stopping. His car was spotted fleeing on Mercer Street by Pfc. Gerald Patterson and Pfc. David Ahlston who gave pursuit.

Johnson was apprehended when his car left the road and ran up a bank across from 295 Mercer Road. He refused to take a Breath-O-Lyzer test at Borough headquarters, where he was charged with drunken driving by Pfc. Patterson. He was released in $250 bail, pending a hearing in Borough court.

Johnson's car was towed to the rear of Borough Hall. The incident occurred at 4:45 p.m.

WOMAN'S PURSE STOLEN At First Presbyterian. A Skillman woman's purse containing $35 was stolen between 7 and 7:15 Friday evening from the Youth Room of the First Presbyterian Church on Nassau Street.

Mrs. Lawrence E. Benson of Province Line Road called police to report that her black leather purse had been found the next day in the church's chapel. All its contents were intact except for the missing $35.

ZONING ACTIONS In Township. Four variances were approved Thursday night by the Township Zoning Board.

Douglas B. Remsen, Belle Mead, was given a variance so he can buy a 50-foot-wide roadway into the 21 landlocked acres he owns off Herrontown Road. Without a variance, he would have had to buy a road strip 87 feet wide. His tract is used by the Antlers Gun Club.

William E. Stewardson, for Stewardson - Dougherty Real Estate Associates, was given permission to repair the one-story house at 635 Snowden Lane that was gutted by fire some years ago, and to build a two-story addition. A variance was required because the lot is too narrow.

Fred Lehnert, 171 Ridgeview Circle, and Edward L. Cossman, 161 Ridgeview, were given a side-line variance to adjust a surveying error and Mr. and Mrs. David Popenoe, 159 Loomis Court, were given a side-yard variance to allow the expansion of living and dining rooms.

THREE ARE FINED In Township Court. Three Princeton area residents were fined last week by former magistrate Louis Gerber, sitting in for vacationing Township Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr.

Michael Friendly, 22, 208 Ewing Street, was fined $15 for an improper turn, and Jeppo Sari, 412-B Devereux Avenue, was fined $15 for driving without lights. Both pleaded not guilty.

A FIFTH AVENUE FASHION SALE FOR WOMEN WHO USUALLY AVOID THEM.

Aunt Abigail's, the Fifth Avenue fashion store in Flemington, is having a sale for women who find the crowds, the crush, the incomplete stocks and the tired merchandise of most sales to be good reasons for staying away.

Aunt Abigail's sale, like everything else at Aunt Abigail's, is different.

In the cozy, relaxed atmosphere of our Victorian house, you can buy at sale prices every coat, suit, ensemble, dress and sweater in the store. These are all beautifully made, current clothes, and we promise we have all sizes from 6 to 16, in a full range of colors. (You may even get a designer's sample. But that we won't promise.)

Now for the part that makes a sale a sale. You get 20% to 50% off Aunt Abigail's already low prices. An ensemble that regularly sells for $200 on Fifth Avenue, regularly sells at Aunt Abigail's for $133.35, and our sale price is only $107. The suit that's $90 on Fifth Avenue, is always available from us at $60, but now it's $30. And the better dresses that we always sell from $22 to $30 are now just $14 each.

All of these clothes are made by a famous New York manufacturer and are exactly the same clothes shown by the best New York stores. The only difference is that at Aunt Abigail's you won't find their famous label.

We invite you to visit Aunt Abigail's and see what a pleasure our kind of sale can be.

Aunt Abigail's is open every day from 10:30 to 5:30. But remember, it's not on Fifth Avenue, it's at 41 Mine Street, in Flemington, New Jersey, (opposite Stangl Pottery). Telephone 201/782-6864.

ICE PATROL ALERT: All ice skaters in Princeton and Kingston are urged to help form the 1968 Lake Carnegie Ice Patrol. The hour you give may save a life. In the past, the four ice drowning tragedies have all involved children.

Patrol members are identified by arm bands. Their main job is to keep skaters within the safety zones, particularly skaters from outlying areas who do not know the rules for skating at the lake.

"We are not a baby-sitting service," Township Police Sgt. Jack Petrone reminds potential patrol members. "We're an ice patrol to show some of the do's and don't around the ice, to be there in event of danger, to be trained in giving first aid and how to effect a rescue."

The designated safe areas on Lake Carnegie require six to ten Ice Patrol members at each area. The lake will be patrolled from 3 to 5 on weekdays and all day on Saturdays and Sundays. Patrol members are on call for a one-to-two-hour stint on the particular day of the week they designate. The skating season in Princeton normally lasts about three weeks.

Volunteers are urgently needed. The organization meeting for the 1968 Patrol will be held in early January. Sign in with Sgt. Petrone, 921-2100.

CLIP AND SAVE — FOR YOUR CHILD'S SAFETY — CLIP AND SAVE

WHITE FLAGS FLY WHEN THE ICE IS SAFE.
Flag poles are located: (1) atop University crew house, (2) on south side of lake between Washington Road and Harrison Street bridges; (3) opposite Longview drive; (4) rear of West Hibben Apartments; (5) sailboat dock on Princeton-Kingston Road; (6) Institute Pond.

RED FLAGS FLY WHEN THE ICE IS UNSAFE. ALSO, TUNE IN STATION WHWH FOR ICE CONDITIONS.

SAFE AREAS TO SKATE (when white flags fly at Lake Carnegie):

- Between Washington Road bridge and Harrison Street bridge.
- In front of the sailboat dock, Princeton-Kingston Road.
- In front of the University crew house and Hibben Apartments, west of the Washington Road Bridge.

ICE ON THE DELAWARE-RARITAN CANAL IS NEVER, NEVER SAFE!

THE ICY DEATH TRAP

Last January (in another community) several youngsters were making holes in the ice when it cracked and opened into a wide chasm that swallowed up four boys ages 5 through 7.

Another boy, age 8, seeing his brother go down, ran out to help, but also fell through.

Before the rescue attempts were over, several men crashed through the ice, including one victim's father who nearly drowned.

Finally, police broke through the ice with boats and retrieved five small bodies from 14 feet of water with grappling hooks.

THE HUMAN CHAIN

When several persons are present, you can form a human chain which is very effective and usually does not jeopardize the rescuers' lives.

Simply lie down, grasp the ankles or skates of the person ahead, then worm your way toward the victim.

The leader grabs the victim's wrists and the whole chain squirms backward over the ice, drawing him out.

In case the weak ice collapses, dunking the first man, the others can pull him out. See also "Ice Rescue Buoys" at right.

In another instance, what could have been a mass drowning ended happily because of the efficient action of four youngsters in the sixth grade.

When they saw a little boy break through the ice on a river, they did not panic and run crazily across the thin ice to his rescue.

They remembered what they had learned in Scouting. They formed a human chain across the ice and swiftly pulled the little child to safety.

This is dramatic evidence that children in a crisis do remember correct emergency procedures. So, explain to your child the simple rules of ice safety and rescue. It may someday save his life or another's.

ICE RESCUE BUOYS

Life buoys are located on red posts at strategic intervals along Lake Carnegie. These buoys are equipped with 60 feet of rope.

a. In an emergency, take the buoy, along with the attached rope, off the post.

b. Do not attempt to get too close to the person in the water.

c. Hold the buoy in one hand and throw it directly along ~~your side from~~ back to front in pendulum fashion. Do not sail the buoy out like a discus.

d. While holding the rope in your other hand, permit the rope to feet out with the thrown buoy.

e. Throw the buoy over and beyond the person in the water.

f. If you miss, quickly loop the rope in and throw the buoy again.

g. After the person has grasped the buoy, do not pull too hard or too fast because you may pull the buoy out of the victim's hand.

SKATERS CHECK LIST

- Skate only when the "WHITE" flags are up.
- Keep away from "RED" flags placed in areas where the ice is thin.
- Do not skate under the bridges. This area is the last to freeze.
- Report all unsafe spots to the police so that flags can be placed as warnings to the skaters.
- Never skate alone
- Skate only in areas designated safe. Orange pennants will mark the safe areas.

• Night Skating:

Flood lights are on at the various locations from dark until 11:00 p.m. when the ice is safe:

a. The south side of the lake, west of Washington Road Bridge.

b. Directly in front of the sailboat dock on Princeton-Kingston Road.

Correction Offered.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

William Volk (Mailbox Dec. 14, 1967) refers to the Sierra Club as a civic organization that worries about the Redwoods and he asks "who worries about the people?" I believe that many organizations worry about, show concern for and actively aid human beings in many and diverse ways.

I respectfully suggest that if Mr. Volk were to read a Sierra Club publication he would realize that this organization, working in the public interest, urges the preservation of our prime natural heritage, such as Redwoods, the Grand Canyon and the most magnificent wilderness areas of our country because of the vital civilizing effect these wild and unmolested lands have on human beings. Indeed, the title of one Sierra Club book eloquently expresses this concept: "In Wildness Is the Preservation of the World."

Birthday Overlooked.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is the season when we are celebrating the Birthday of the Prince of Peace, the Lord Jesus Christ.

A few weeks ago there was an elaborate display in the windows of the Princeton Public Library pertaining to the celebration of the Atheistic Russian Revolution. Up to the date of this letter I see nothing there about the Son of God.

Is there still "no room in the Inn?"

W. DOUGLAS SMITH

Protest Continued.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a student in Pharmacy School, I never thought I'd ever have to be a traffic expert. Furthermore, it is true that I, like most people, always felt that I had one great American novel in me. But I am finding that if I leave any lingering prose behind me, it will be in the great American tradition in the form of letters to the editor—and on such a stimulating topic as traffic.

There are still a few important aspects of the change in parking on Witherspoon Street to the east side that promise real problems to many people besides myself.

1. Will funerals from the Mt. Pisgah and Presbyterian churches on Witherspoon Street find that the new rule will mean carrying the casket across the street? Will the bereaved find they too must cross the street after the services to go to their cars? Funeral cars on one side of the street and parked cars on the other would close the street.

2. Cars in the short driveways beside the private homes on the east side will have to be backed in. Otherwise, it would mean backing out over the sidewalk and past a row of parked cars before visibility will allow the driver to back into a turn. This would also be so for Shirley Court and Witherspoon Lane.

3. Since the fireplugs are on the east side, in case of fire the men would have to run the hose through the parked cars, and it would be impossible to get two pieces of equipment alongside the plug.

4. The Township fathers might begin to feel chagrinned because some time ago, parking was changed in the Township part of Witherspoon Street so that patients would not have to cross the street to get to the medical offices near the hospital. They should have known that the Borough would be wiser and tell patients they can have their prescriptions and surgical supplies delivered. Of course, the Township might have suggested that the physicians call on the patients and so walk across the street themselves, when necessary.

Being of a non-violent nature, I'm not elated about "fighting City Hall." Every day I fight the wife, the kids, the help, the customers, the creditors, the salesmen and myself, for smoking and other bad habits. Now, I need help. Won't you rally round and write to the Mayor and Council to leave parking on Witherspoon Street the way it is?

MORRIS FORER
113 Dempsey Avenue

Objection Sustained.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Princeton:

The test of any government is the way it deals with "people problems." It seems to me that the ordinance shifting parking from the west side to the east side of Witherspoon is such a problem.

Mr. Forer provides a significant social service to his present location. Not only does he sell prescription drugs weekdays and on Sundays, but he also provides people in the neighborhood with an opportunity to buy money orders and sundries of all sorts. Many of the residents work during the day, so that it is very helpful to have a neighborhood store that stays open until 10 p.m. each night.

How can a child learn to find his place in the world, and make it a better place to live? We would answer, by having the great treasures of the Bible opened up to him, and learning its lessons of love and spiritual power. That's what goes on every Sunday at the Christian Science Sunday School.

Send Greetings to Vietnam

Once again with the New Year at hand, TOWN TOPICS takes pleasure in listing the names and addresses of men and women from the Princeton area serving with the U.S. armed forces and Red Cross units in Vietnam.

Far from home and their families during the holidays, they would enjoy a card or letter from everyone who will take the time to send a word of greeting. The mailing cost is just 8c, the price of a domestic air mail stamp. Those knowing someone in Vietnam, who is not listed, are invited to send in his name, rank, serial number and address to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664, by Monday.

I began dealing with Mr. Forer when I lived in Princeton Township. I was very favorably impressed by his service orientation and his community concern. Although I moved to Lawrence Township two and a half years ago, I still come to Princeton to have all my prescriptions filled at Forers.

I do not know what urgent traffic problems prompted the Borough Council to decide that parking had to be shifted to the east side of Witherspoon. The street is narrow and there will be problems no matter which side is used.

I hope that you will weigh carefully the small, even questionable, gain to traffic flow resulting from the parking ordinance against the harm that will be done to the business that Mr. Forer has worked so hard to establish. Consider also the loss to the Witherspoon Community if Mr. Forer is forced to relocate in another area.

I sincerely hope that you will review this matter and modify the ordinance to permit parking in the block adjacent to the Forer Pharmacy.

Here is a great hi-fi system that requires absolutely no installation. It may look and operate like a conventional radio, but that is where the resemblance ends. It has all the full-bodied performance of some of the finest Fisher components in an astonishingly compact size (only 13½" wide and 6½" high.)

Its exclusive TUNE-O-MATIC® circuit enables you to set each of the five vertical FM dials to your favorite FM stations, and thereafter select the desired station instantly, at the touch of a button. Or you can tune any station manually.

Bazookall feedback tone controls, usually found only in expensive hi-fi receivers, provide perfect bass and treble tonal balance at all volume settings, high or low. The 5¾" heavy duty massive-magnet loudspeaker provides full frequency response—precisely defined bass tones, crystal clear 'highs', and all without muddiness or distortion.

Come in today for a free demonstration of this remarkable high fidelity system. It's a perfect second unit for the audio enthusiast. And an excellent choice for the newcomer with a limited budget!

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY: Dr. and Mrs. Harold W. Dodds of 87 College Road West observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday. They were married on Christmas Day, 1917, in Mrs. Dodds' native Nova Scotia. Dr. Dodds, the 15th president of Princeton University, retired from the presidency June 30, 1957, after 24 years of service. When inducted as president in 1933, shortly before his 44th birthday, he was the youngest man to be chosen for that office in 175 years. The Dodds have been Princetonians since he joined the faculty in 1925. (Alan Richards photo)

Two Princeton University physicists, Val L. Fitch, 44, and James W. Cronin, 36, are co-recipients of the 1967 Research Corporation Award for outstanding scientific achievement. The award, given annually since 1925 to those who have not already been accorded major honors, carries with it a $5,000 honorarium and a $5,000 gift to the university. Thirteen of the past recipients have since won Nobel prizes.

Professors Fitch and Cronin are being honored, their citation states, "for their demonstration that the combined symmetry of parity and of charge conjugation (the CP Rule) is not, as has been believed, a universal symmetry law of nature."

The CP Rule states that physical laws—those of subatomic particles, for example — remain unchanged when matter is exchanged with anti-matter and when the system is converted at the same time to its mirror image.

The research of Dr. Fitch, Dr. Cronin and colleagues has also thrown doubt upon another long-held law of nature, that of time reversal invari-

FORM REVERSAL NEEDED In West Coast Tournament. Unable to defeat either of a pair of strong southern quintets on their own courts, Princeton's basketball team arrived in Portland, Ore., this week hopeful that neutral territory would serve as the springboard for a reversal of its fortunes.

Both the losses to North Carolina (by 71-63) and to Duke (85-79) were close enough so that elimination of the home court advantages might have turned the tide against one or both of these teams. The Tigers' big hope in the Far West Classic is that they will reach the finals so that they will get another shot at the Tar Heels on a neutral floor.

To do so, it was first essential for them to trim Washington State in the opening round, an opponent they were scheduled to meet at 10 p.m. (EST) on Wednesday. Victory in that contest would send them against the winner of the Texas-Oregon State game, in which the latter was favored. Winners of Wednesday's games will meet at 10 Friday night (also EST), with the consolation and championship finals on Saturday.

Princeton never has had Washington State on its schedule prior to this week's meeting. The tall Cougars rate as a good choice to place behind heavily-favored UCLA in the Pacific Conference.

Five In Double Figures. Balanced scoring was among the primary assets Princeton took into the Far West Classic, being played in the 13,000-seat Memorial Coliseum where the Tigers did so well in Bill Bradley's senior year, 1965. All of the starters on Coach Pete Carril's quintet were in double figures.

BALANCED ABILITY: Sophomore John Hummer, averaging in double figures (12.1), is often assigned to guard the highest-scoring member of the opposing team because of his defensive ability. The 6-7 sophomore, brother of last year's captain, is a resident of Arlington, Va.

Top man is Captain Joe Heiser with 15.4 after seven games. He is followed by John Haarlow, 13.1: John Hummer, 12:1: Chris Thomforde, 11.7: and Geoff Petrie, 11.6.

Principal problem that the Orange and Black encountered in its losses south of the Mason-Dixon line was the many fouls called against it. Against North Carolina, the Tigers switched out of their favored man-to-man defense into a zone to protect Chris Thomforde after he drew his fourth personal, and the Tar Heels proceeded to wrap up the decision in the final six minutes.

At Durham, Thomforde and Hummer both collected three personals before the half ended. Both fouled out before the second period was ten minutes old, and they were joined shortly thereafter by Mike Mardy, playing in a reserve capacity.

Fans Affect Decisions. "I don't care how capable officials are," one veteran observer of the game commented, "they are instinctively affected by the sound of 8,000 fans howling continously because they feel the home team is being fouled by the visitors. Occasionally, that sort of vocal pressure is bound to have its effect. Why else would Princeton's three tallest players all foul out before any of Duke's did in a game that otherwise was just about even?"

Some of the answers should be provided this week at Portland, where none of the eight entries will be playing on its own court. If the Tigers win, they will have the added satisfaction of knowing that they can handle North Carolina when all the straws are of the same length.

Other entries in the tournament, playing in a different bracket, are Stanford, North Carolina's opponent on Thursday, and Utah and Oregon. A Utah-North Carolina semi-final on Friday is anticipated.

The Tigers will have one more game away from home after returning from the Pacific Coast. They play NYU in Madison Square Garden on Thursday, January 4, before taking the floor the following Saturday in Dillon Gym for their Ivy opener against Pennsylvania.

Two games have been played to date in Ivy action, Yale defeating Brown at Providence and Cornell turning back Columbia at Ithaca. Both results were expected, although it seemed possible that Columbia would come closer than 15 points against the Red.

Princeton's 1968 schedule is a strange one in that the Tigers play five of their first six and seven of their first ten Ivy games away from home. Obviously, if they are still in the driver's seat by mid-February, they will come into the home stretch a prohibitive favorite to win another title.

That, however, may take some doing in a league in which Yale and Cornell will be extremely difficult to defeat at home and which also finds Columbia hopeful of

Three Games on TV

Ticket-hungry basketball fans will have three chances to watch Princeton's basketball team this season from their living rooms.

The game on Saturday, January 6, between the Tigers and Pennsylvania will be televised over Channels 3 and 4, starting at 2 o'clock. This is the first in the annual series sponsored by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Both Princeton's games with Columbia are scheduled for television over WPIX, Channel 11. The first is set for New York on Saturday, February 3; the second for Dillon Gym—the last contest of the season — on Saturday, March 2.

making a strong run for the championship. The toughest weekend swing takes the Tigers to Ithaca on February 2 and to New York the following night, while much will hinge, too, on the outcome of the game at New Haven on February 17.

Princeton, Cornell, Yale and Columbia are the four rated as title possibilities. Penn, Harvard, Brown and Dartmouth have little or no chance, with Penn the pick of the latter quartet.

CAN SKATERS TOP .500?

Schedule Is Rugged. It has been a decade or more since a Princeton hockey team last climbed above the break even point. First division finishes in the Ivy League have been achieved (John Wilson's first season here in 1965-66 saw third place won by the Tigers) but the independents have invariably been more than they could handle.

In Wilson's first year, for example, his team was 4-5-1 in Ivy action, the nine points earning third place. However, the Orange and Black could defeat only two opponents outside the league, finishing with an overall mark of 6-12-1.

Ability to beat scrappy Northeastern twice within a week and to top that off by taking the first holiday tournament in Princeton history with a 7-4 conquest of Boston College has set hockey fans here to doing a little figuring. The current record is 4-2, and there are 17 games left to play. If the Tigers are to top the .500 mark, they will have to win eight of them.

Of the 17, 11 are against Ivy opponents — two with newcomer Penn. Two more are with Dartmouth, last year's cellar dweller, and another pair with Yale, which lost most of its top players through graduation. The Tigers should win all six of these, although they have not fared well in New Haven in recent years.

On the other side of the fence, Harvard is likely to repeat its victory of earlier this month when it plays in Baker Rink on February 10. Cornell and Brown both will be favored to win a pair from the Tigers.

That leaves Princeton, if form holds, needing at least two victories from the ranks of the independents. The remaining contests are against St. Lawrence, Clarkson, Boston College, Providence, Boston University and RPI. Unfortunately for Princeton, every one of them is away from home.

Of the half dozen contests against non-Ivy teams, Providence and RPI are the best bets for Princeton victories. If the Tigers can win all six Ivy games in which they will have an edge, plus these two, it would rank as their best season since 1955-56.

Three of the toughest games are on tap next week. After a fortnight's inaction, Coach Bill Quackenbush's sextet will play Tuesday night in Canton, N. Y., against St. Lawrence, Wednesday against Clarkson at Potsdam and Friday at Chestnut Hill against Boston College. A victory in any one of the three games would be an upset, despite the earlier success against B. C.

Much of the credit for the Tigers' early surge goes to Captain John Ritchie, the hustling first-line center who has led the varsity in total goals in both his sophomore and junior years. In six games to date, he has scored five times and has been credited with ten assists — a rate of production that would see him top the unusually high mark of 30 for the season.

Ritchie is working with Jan Ivor Jerry Kearney on one wing and senior Mike Wiggins on the other, a unit that Quackenbush set up in pre-season practice and has found greatly to his liking ever since. The new Tiger coach considers his captain "one of the top centers in eastern hockey. We use him as a penalty killer and on our power play," Quackenbush points out, "so you can see he does it all."

At Richview Collegiate school in his native Canada, the compactly-built Ritchie took part in football, hockey, track, basketball and baseball. Here at Princeton, he has limited his activities to hockey and lacrosse, earning a letter in the spring sport as a sophomore despite his early inexperience with the game.

In the ECAC Holiday Tournament at Boston, Ritchie was the pick over a number of standout players on the BC and Northeastern teams as "most valuable" in the two-day affair. Now he hopes to lead his team to a contending role in the Ivy race, an achievement he feels possible "based on the desire and willingness to skate we have shown so far."

night. For the first time since we started this season, we know what it means to play defense."

PHS coach Larry Ivan spoke these words following his team's 30-to-52 defeat Friday at the hands of unbeaten Cathedral (3-0). In a sense, however, it was a victory for the harrassed Little Tigers, too, who have been making news only by the record number of points that have been scored against them. The Cathedral game may be later remembered as the one in which the Little Tigers turned the corner.

The team is still making mistakes. It hit on only 5 of 21 free throws while Cathedral was sinking 20 of 25. "There's your ball game right there," said Ivan.

PHS threw the ball away no fewer than 21 times. And it continued its disconcerting habit of missing layups. "We missed seven or eight layups off the fast break," added Ivan. "There's 16 more points we should have had."

But there are signs of progress. John Madden and Charlie Madden who had 18 and 12 rebounds against the taller Gaels, in comparison, said Ivan, with an average of eight or nine in the first games.

"Our biggest problem was that we were not going to the boards. We were not blocking out," said Ivan. "Before, we used to watch the flight of the ball. Now as soon as the shot is taken, they turn. They don't even look at the ball and it's paying off.

Riddell Has 10. "In addition sophomore Paul Riddell is starting to come around. He was five for eight from the floor against Cathedral and pulled down five rebounds for his best performance. He's definitely improving," said Ivan.

Ivan added that "the entire ballclub seems to be grasping better the point of what we are striving for — defense. We're protecting the baselines better, forcing the other man into the center where he can be picked up.

"We still think the name of the game is defense. We're going to stick with it. I told them the only way we were ever going to perfect it was to keep working at it, that they had to take it to bed with them.

"The morale is still up," continued Ivan. "If we lose that, we lose everything."

Gaels Take Quick Lead. Against a highly-favored Cathedral team, PHS played the Gaels even, 12-12, in the third period and almost even in the second, 16-13. "What killed us was the first quarter," said Ivan.

Cathedral jumped off to a 20-9 bulge and ended the first eight minutes of play ahead, 28-14. It looked as if PHS was going to become another century victim for the third time in a row.

But PHS forced a number of bad passes and the Gaels, guilty of some shoddy play, watched their lead cut to 30-40. "We were in that game right up to the final quarter," said Ivan. "If we had a couple of breaks here and there, things might have been different."

PHS 157-LB. WRESTLER Marty Heilner is one of those favored to finish high in the Suburban Tourney to be held this week at Morrisville (Pa.) High School.

Ron McEwen led the home team with 17 points. John Madden had 12. They are the lone two Little Tigers to have reached double figures in all five games. Riddell, whose previous high was 2, hit for 10.

"Our Worst Game." If Cathedral was a good game for the Little Tigers, the one with Plainfield last week wasn't. Ivan called it "our worst game." Plainfield won, 100-52.

The home team Cardinals (2-2) had a big edge in rebounds: 64 to 40, whereas Cathedral, a taller team, led PHS in this department only by seven. Plainfield had a fast hand as well, sinking 56 per cent of its shots. PHS, on the other hand, completed 23 of 57 for a 40 percent effort.

Ron McEwen led the losers with 24 points — the top performance by a Little Tiger so far this season. John Madden had 13 and Jeff Haring seven. PHS led only once when Madden got the game's first basket.

Perhaps the worst is behind the Little Tigers. Not for the remainder of their schedule will they have to face three teams in a row the caliber of Trenton, Plainfield and Cathedral.

"We've been taking a beating in the newspapers about these games where we got pooped by a 100 points or more, and I told the boys we deserve every bit of it until we can prove otherwise," said Ivan.

However, Ivan left no doubt that the days of such defeats are over. "We're starting to come around. We're definitely improving."

Sports In Princeton

FMC HOSPITAL TIED

In Industrial League. FMC and Hospital are tied for second place in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League, as a result of FMC's 64-47 victory over ETS.

Adrien Gosselin was the big man for FMC with 28 points, while Joe Patrick and Ted Hessler popped in 12 each for ETS. National Computer Analysts remained undefeated with a 63-51 victory over RCA. Joe Cybarski and Jack Oberding paced NCA; Jim Wilso had 22 for the losers.

Next games on January 9 will pit Hospital against RCA and NCA against FMC. Shell has been forced to drop out of the league for lack of play ers.

LITTLE TIGERS BLANKED

By Englewood Skaters. The Englewood Hockey Club paid a visit to the Princeton Day School rink Friday evening for a contest with the Princeton High School sextet and departed with an easy 11-0 victory in its pocket.

"We were up against a fast er and more experienced club and its showed in every department," said PHS coach Pete Cook. "Our boys learned a lot playing a team like this but it can be pretty discouraging for them at the same time." PHS is now 1-2.

BOWLING NOTES

Gocke Rolls 286. Fred Gocke bowled a 286 — his all-time high — last week at the Princeton Recreation Lanes.

He had 10 strikes in his second game. Then he came up with a split for a count of seven pins and got his two pins for a 286, which earned him the TOWN TOPICS' Award for the high single game of the week. His score was also the high single game at the Recreation Lanes this season, topping the 279 rolled by Bill Fornelli.

Rolling for Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 380 in the Nassau League, Gocke had games of 211-286-162 for a 659 series.

There were three other 600 series. Ernie Hunt started with a 169 but finished with a 248 for 618. Flavio Buono had 225-187-203—615, and Jim Shely had 215-209-189—604. High single games were Rich Pinelli's 243 and Jim Wheeler's 215. Bill Whatley had 207-201.

Next week will mark the final night of the first half in the Nassau League where R&D Atlantic has already clinched first place with 72 points. Princeton Aviation and Italian American Sportsmen Club are tied for second with 58-ell, Grover Lamber has 56 and the Plumbers & Steamfitters, 53. There could be considerable churning among the latter four as the final night of play in the first half will be Bumper Night, with one meeting two, three meeting four, and so on.

Next week will also mark the end of the first-half in the

Deer Kill Lower Here

A slight drop in the number of deer taken during the 1967 season has been reported for Mercer County by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. One hundred eighty-one were shot with firearms, a decrease of 12, while 83 were killed by hunters using bows and arrows — eight less than a year ago.

The total harvest for the season throughout the state was 9,909, 65 above last year's figure, making 1967 the third highest on record. In 1959 and 1961, when higher totals were set, more liberal regulations were in effect.

The largest county figure came from nearby Hunterdon, where 809 deer were killed. There was a report from every one of New Jersey's 21 counties except Hudson, which is totally urban in nature.

A League where the final outcome remains a contest between Antler's (64 points) and Stefanelli's (61).

Four rolled 600 series. Bill Cavanaugh had 186-228-213—627; Nick Scerbo, 211-163-245—619; Bib Cifelli, 183-231-195—609 and Joe Baldino, 178-229-200—607. The high single game was John Baldino's 235.

Mike Pinelli rolled 227, Jim Kahny, 205-223, and Guido Zinetti, 223.

In the only other league to report its activity last week, Kingston remained in first place in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 39 points. Dutch Neck has 33, Mercer No. 3 and Lawrenceville, 32 each, while Hook & Ladder "L" and RFD are tied with 30 apiece.

Scores were relatively low. Harry Kahny had 209-215, Jack Zinsmeister, 210-192, George Lange, 201-195. High single games: Stan Tantum, 216; Bob Richardson, 215; George Kirby, 212; and Doug Watson, 210.

News Of The CHURCHES

ECUMENICAL PLANS SET

By Princeton Pastors

Several inter-denominational events and projects are being planned for 1968 by the Princeton Pastors' Association.

According to the Rev. Kenneth Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist Church, who has succeeded the Rev. F. Hugh Lifton of St. Andrew's as president, "One of the major attempts will be to discuss the possibilities of bringing together the several ecumenical organizations and task forces into a comprehensive structure."

Working separately at present are such groups as the PPA, the Princeton Christian Unity Committee, Church Women United, and the interchurch Social Concerns Committee. An attempt will be made in January to contact the various groups, the Rev. Mr. Dannenhauer said.

Completion of the Ethel Palmer Morgan Chapel at Princeton Chapel early in the year will enlarge the work of the ministry. The chaplain, the Rev. C. George Fitzgerald, will hold inter-denominational worship services for patients, their families and friends at 7:30 every Sunday.

A Week of Prayer for Christian Unity is scheduled for January 18 through 25, with services each evening. The schedule of churches and preachers is being arranged.

A series of Lenten programs is being arranged by the Princeton Christian Unity Committee in conjunction with the PPA.

YOUTH PLAN SERVICE

At Princeton Methodist. Young members of Princeton Methodist Church will be in charge of the 11 a.m. worship service this Sunday, marking Student Recognition Sunday.

Sermonettes on the topic "Faith and the College Student" will be given by Linda Calcote, Stephen Warner and Marcia Woodward. Church school will be held at 9:45.

YOUTH WORK TO BENEFIT

From Ecumenical Services. The congregations of Calvary Baptist, Witherspoon Street Presbyterian and All Saints' Episcopal Churches will meet at All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road, this Sunday to share in an ecumenical worship service. The offering will be for youth work in the Princeton community, particularly the Youth Center, Pieskay and Youth Associates.

Services will be held at 9 and 11 a.m., followed by a coffee and fellowship hour. The worship will follow the New Liturgy of the Lord's Supper for trial use of the Episcopal Church. No services will be held Sunday in either Calvary or Witherspoon.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Kenneth Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist. The Rev. Harold Thomas of Witherspoon will read the lessons, lead the Prayer of Intercession and assist in the presentation of the alms and oblations.

The vicar of All Saints', the Rev. Harry I. Lauer Jr., will be celebrant. He will be the guest warshipers. Also assisting will be the Rev. David Milling of the inter-denominational Church of South India and the Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber, assistant at All Saints'.

Similar services are planned at the other two churches in April and June. The three denominations are members of the Consultation for Church Union (COCU).

BULLETIN NOTES

The Women's Society for Christian Service of Princeton Methodist Church will meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday for a program titled "Woman's Struggle for Identity." The Herbert-Norton Circle is in charge. Members of the executive committee will be hostesses.

"And the Beat Goes On" will be discussed by the young people of Princeton Methodist Church at this Sunday's 9:45 a.m. session of the adults' Asbury Class.

The Rev. C. Shelby Rooks, executive director of the Fund for Theological Education, Inc., is the preacher at this Sunday's 11 a.m. worship service in Princeton University Chapel.

PPA PRESIDENT: The Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist Church will serve as president of the Princeton Pastors' Association for the coming year. The Rev. Harry I. Lauer of All Saints Chapel was named vice-president and the Rev. Eliot A. Daley of First Presbyterian is secretary-treasurer.

Obituaries

Miss Florence McGlonesy, 79, formerly of 27 Vandeventer Avenue, died December 24 in a Shrewsbury nursing home.

Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Church, Akron. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Akron.

Blagio Leoncavallo, 77, of East Broad Street, Hopewell, died December 21. He was retired carpenter.

Born in Italy, Mr. Leoncavallo lived in Hopewell for 35 years. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of Hopewell Valley Post 339, American Legion.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Antoinette Whitlack of Hopewell; two sons, Nicholas A. of Memphis, Tenn., and Joseph of Carlsbad, Calif.; nine grandchildren, a brother, John of Union City, two other brothers and two sisters in Italy.

Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Alphonsu. Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Dr. Durant K. Charleroy, 55, of Sunset Road, Lawrenceville, died December 23 in the East Orange Veterans Hospital.

A native of Vermont, Ill., Dr. Charleroy was former anesthesiologist at Helene Fuld and Perth Amboy General Hospitals. He was a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College in 1933 and received his medical degree from Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, Philadelphia. He practiced medicine in Bordentown before enlisting in the Navy in World War II.

Dr. Charleroy was a past president of the New Jersey Society of Anesthesia, a member of the Mercer County Component Medical Society, the New Jersey Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He was an elder of Westminster Presbyterian Church and a member of Mount Moriah Lodge 28, F & AM of Bordentown.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mildred D. Charleroy, three sons, Durant D. of Willingboro, William L. of State College, Pa., and Thomas K. at home; two grandchildren and his parents, Louis and Adah Charleroy of Hershey, Pa.

The service was held in Cranbury, the Rev. Philip H. Zink of Westminster Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Trenton.

Topics Of The Town

Castle, Cranbury, was halted for 30 days for speeding.

NEW YEAR BEGINS

In Borough, Township. Traditional organization meetings will be held in Borough Hall and Township Hall at noon on New Year's Day, as new municipal officials are sworn in and new terms of office begin.

In the first swearing in ceremonies for the new Borough Hall, Mayor Henry S. Patterson will take the oath of office for the fourth time. Borough Councilman Fred H. Peterson will be sworn in for his first term of office, and Councilman Alan Carrick for his third term. Mrs. Christine St. John will be sworn in as tax collector.

Two Borough police officers will be sworn to new positions and a new patrolman will take the oath as he joins the force. The Borough's new lieutenant, Michael Carnevale, and the new sergeant, Ralph Procaccino, will take on their new offices, and Robert H. Mucciarelli will be sworn in as new patrolman.

All oaths of office will be administered by Robert F. Mooney, Borough Administrator.

In the Township, the present mayor, Carl C. Schafer, is expected to be re-elected to the post by his fellow Committeemen. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini will swear in William L. Wilson for his third term, and Harry J. Volwieder for two years of an unexpired three year term. Theodore Kennedy will take the oath as tax collector.

Mayor Patterson announced this week that Norman Williams Jr., 74 Allison Road, will succeed Bryan V Moore, 30 Quarry Street, as the Planning Board representative on the Borough Zoning Board. Mrs. Herbert S. Langfeld, Elm Road, will continue as an appointee to the Local Assistance Board.

At 12:30 p.m., the annual reception for elected officials, Borough and Township, will be held in the Harrison Street firehouse. All residents of the Princeton community are invited to attend.

DECLINES POLICE JOB

"For Family Reasons." Kenneth T. Samuel of 38 Leigh Avenue, named last week to fill a vacancy in the Borough police department, has decided not to accept the position.

Mr Samuel, who would have joined the force as a probationary patrolman on January 1, told Chief Peter J. McCrohan that his decision was based on family reasons.

As a result, the vacancy will be filled by Robert H. Mucciarelli, 25, of Hamilton Township. Mr. Mucciarelli was released from the Army two months ago and had been working for a beverage company, Chief McCrohan reported. He was second behind Mr. Samuel on the Borough's present list of police applicants.

AN INDOOR TABLEAU, recreating the birth of Christ, is on view again this year at the Consolata Fathers' Mission, Route 27 at Six Mile Run near Franklin Park. The display gives a morning-to-evening-to-dawn view of Bethlehem and the countryside of Judea, achieved by complex lighting and electronic devices. About 30 woodcarved figures, including some moving in the background, and more than 2,000 items are used to re-create the Bethlehem scene. Christmas music is blended into the narration. The display is largely the work of the Rev. Renato Saudelli. Hours are 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 daily. Admission is free.

BIRTHS

Twelve Born. Four girls and eight boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital. Two births were recorded on Christmas Eve.

Girls were born to Mr and Mrs. Paul Manzi, 314 Second Avenue, Hightstown, December 18; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bologna, 14 Clinton Drive, Englishtown, December 19; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mahony, 76 Moore's Mill Road, Hopewell, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hutchinson, Conover Road, Trenton, December 24.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kolbush, 7-D Colletti Terrace, Jamesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chibbaro, 13 Sedgwick Road, Trenton, both on December 18; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, Ringoes, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bernstein, 33 Ward Avenue Extention, Trenton, both on December 19; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dunne, Hwy. 33, Hightstown, December 21; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Henderson, Lambertville, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Temkin, 1003 Brookwood Gardens, Hickory Corner Road, Hightstown, both on December 22, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren K. L. Woo, 16 Van Saun Drive, Trenton, December 24.

A son, Patrick Ian, was born on December 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Lange Jr. of Fair Hill Road, Hatfield, Pa., formerly of Princeton, in the North Penn Hospital, Lansdale.

NULL SET TO PLAY

For Youth Center Dance. The adult and youth boards of the Princeton Youth Center, 102 Witherspoon Street, are sponsoring a teen dance this Saturday at the Center. The Null Set, led by Bob Korman, will provide the music.

The dance is open to all teenagers. Members of the Youth Center will be admitted free; non-members will be charged $1. This is applicable towards their $3.50 membership fee if they attend Princeton secondary schools.

The Center will be open from 7:30 to 11:30, with the dance beginning at 8:30. Youth Associates guitarists will play in the coffeehouse downstairs. The game room and lounge will also be open.

In other youth events around town, the Catacomb in Trinity Church will feature guitarist Barry Peterson this Thursday and Friday evenings. Light refreshments are served.

WINTER AT THE YWCA

For Girls and Older Girls. Classes in everything for women in every age group are on the schedule of the Princeton "YWCA's Winter Program. Further details are in the advertisement on page 27.

Registration will be held next Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and next Thursday from 9 to 5. Classes will start Monday, January 8.

For children, there will be classes in arts and crafts and American folk-song. A music workshop, a theatre workshop and a club for the very young, are also on the list.

Ballet, pre-ballet, modern dance and junior Kodakan Judo will be offered for both boys and girls. A toddlers gym including tumbling and stunts for three to five year-old boys and girls, has been planned for fun, exercise and co-ordination.

Junior High Girls may sign up for sex education; high school girls may take trips to college campuses or join a leadership training series and participate in a group called the "Activators," a program-planning council of girls from high schools in the area.

Working girls have a chance to join the Fin 'n Swim evening sessions, and all-day skiing trips on Saturdays. There is a Slimnastics class, too.

Woman may register for a class in Antique Restoration and Identification, or learn how to type. "Law for the Layman" is another adult course.

Chinese watercolor, oil painting or drawing are all offered in the Y's art department. The Language department will have conversational French, Spanish, and Italian.

Young mothers may participate in a special program designed to "get you out of the house, have fun and get back into shape." The Y suggests mothers bring the new baby (under nine months) and have a social and exercise hour while the baby sleeps.

House hunting during the Holiday Season? Here's a sample of what we can offer you. Stop in or call for details on these and 200 other attractive homes we can show you in the Princeton area.

Spend 1968 in Cape Cod! Not in Massachusetts, but in nearby, delightful Lawrenceville. We can now offer a picturebook stone front Cape Cod home on a well-landscaped lot 130x242. Jalousied-window breezeway and 2-car attached garage. Exclusively ours. $29,500

For a growing 1968 family we have one of the finest 4 bedroom, 2-story Colonial homes we've ever offered. Family room, 2½ baths. Beautifully planted 1 acre lot. Just North of Princeton. $39,500

Elm Ridge Park is a distinctive address of quality-built custom homes. Our's features 5 bedrooms. The rear porch looks down on an access to Honey Lake. Owner transferred. Move in next month. $66,000

We're well known for the promotional advertising efforts we put behind each of our exclusive home listings. If you're planning to sell your home in 1968, "resolve" to contact our sales department.

It makes time other small cars shouldn't make.

Where traffic's heavy but rolling, and trucks are throwing their weight around, it's not the ideal place for small cars to make time. But the SAAB V-4 is no ordinary small car. It is out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves, and other drivers' mistakes. (Most ordinary small cars don't give, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features.) As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE. SAAB
Whitewall tires extra. Price illustrated (With Sunshine) is P.O.E. East Coast. You can drive it like a big car.

Season's Greetings

The GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST . . . How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . . . we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!

GOLF COURSE is right across the road! Old Colonial with beautiful shade trees Owner has devoted a great deal of thought and money to the modernization of this house. The result is a delightful place to live in with every modern convenience, yet the exterior and the grounds still retain the charm which always comes to mind when one hears about an old farm house in the country. And the size of the house, the proximity of the golf course, and the extremely favorable price make this one of the best buys we have on our list . . . Entrance hall, den with bookshelves, paneled dining room, living room with fireplace and built in bar, brand new kitchen, fully equipped. Second floor master bedroom and bath, 4 nice bedrooms & bath. Almost an acre of land. (sole agent) $32,000

CLASSIC COLONIAL . . . In nearby Lawrence, on a high corner lot, this delightful red shingled home, with white shutters and trim, is only 6 years old. 23 foot living room with fireplace. Separate dining room. Sunny family room off the kitchen, with adjacent powder room. Full basement. 2-car garage. Upstairs: 4 corner bedrooms, 2 baths. This is a spacious home in a fine neighborhood with plenty of children. School within walking distance. Wall-to-wall carpeting included. Aluminum storms & screens. Quick occupancy as the owners are building a new and larger home and can move within 30 days. (sole agent) $34,000

HILLTOP HOME . . . built 'way back from the street, among tall trees on two beautiful acres in one of Princeton's most neighborly nearby communities, the two-story Colonial house has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths. First floor has foyer, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, den, powder room, kitchen and laundry. 2-car attached garage. Full basement. However, this property is much more than a nice 4-bedroom house in the country — here is a wonderful way to live . . . with a big 20x40 swimming pool, a lovely garden, complete privacy, and most of the land covered with shrubs, trees and vines so that the owner can enjoy his weekends and not dedicate himself to life on a lawnmower . . . And, perhaps most interesting of all, there is almost an acre next door which can be bought and added to this property so that a legal one-acre lot might be disposed of, thus considerably reducing the net cost of the property. (sole agent) $49,500

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths, Large Colonial, built in 1965, on a wooded acre. Entry hall, living room 13.4 x 23, dining room, family room with fireplace, modern kitchen, laundry & powder room. Central air-conditioning. Lovely patio. This is one of the beautiful homes in secluded "Longacres," adjoining a college campus, where all that Time can do to the property is make it more attractive . . . and more valuable. The owner has added many improvements to this property, and every mother will be delighted that there are lots of young children in this area and virtually no traffic on its quiet streets. (sole agent) $59,500

APARTMENT. . .in the Western Section, on a beautifully landscaped property, here is a wonderful place to live. A separate building, with its own backyard and next to a swimming pool which tenants may use, the apartment has living room with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen, 3 bedrooms and bath. No small children however, and no animal pets. One year lease preferred. $300 per month

Many more fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.

A barn transformed into one of the showplaces of the Princeton area! Exterior natural siding has been used inside as paneling to blend with flagstone and random-width pine boards all complementing the fieldstone fireplace and beamed ceiling in the living room. Dining room for formal entertaining, and a unique stable-style kitchen large enough to eat in with all modern appliances.

Leading off the entrance foyer is a library and guest room. There is a many-windowed master suite with mosaic tiled sunken bath for an extra glamorous touch. Two more bedrooms and bath complete the first level. Free standing spiral staircase leads to a basketball court with endless expansion possibilities and another bedroom and bath. If you want the unusual in a beautiful country setting, this is truly IT!
